

FAIR-FIELDER

Catch what was said in the sermon?

Rather, what makes it so exceptional is what it doesn't have.

The standard Protestant Bible has 1,189 chapters, but this slave's Bible (2) has only 232 chapters.

Yet, provoking is often exactly what God's Word is intended to do.

If God said don't fear (2), then we're talking about something fearful (2).

And yes, he should fear and look for the rescuing hand of his God.

Presumably, he said more than one sentence (2) since the narrator shares how "amazed" people were.

They've likely heard about his blessings in Capernaum and now they want theirs.

And there were many Jews with leprosy who could have been healed by Elisha, but God chose a non - Jew.

Another footnote: there are no cliffs near Nazareth.

Servants of God are summoned to bring God's Word—God's difficult Word—to shine a light in the darkness, to bring good news (2) to the poor ...
