

FAIR-FIELDER

Catch what was said in the sermon?

May 21, 2017

I had a back-and-forth with a known libertarian on a Facebook forum.

What I meant was more along the lines of what Barclay had written: Your god is my devil.

When God simply becomes a reflection of ourselves, we're lost.

Paul begins by noting the religiosity of the Greeks.

However, Paul has no qualms about making bold statements.

It's no surprise that few became new disciples.

Jesus isn't sending a teacher , or worse, a substitute teacher (2).

So, if you listen for the verbs, it's more bearable.

Rather, it is that Jesus becomes flesh once again in us as we embody love for others.

Absent that love which anchors the whole process, and there is no God.

This, too, is the caution for those who fail to separate the distinct nature of God and Kingdom from their own attitudes, beliefs, and assumptions.
