The law or culture tends to work pretty well for us. [choice]

They tended to be those who were, one way or another, poorly regarded (2) by the society in general.

In the story of Naboth's vineyard, greed and gratitude collide.

Ahab goes off in a deep sulk (2).

Ahab and Jezebel appear thoroughly contemptible (2).

In 1637, the Pequots became the first native people to survive a genocidal massacre (2).

Peter's behavior among the Galatians is the source of Paul's rage.

Paul proceeds to compare himself (2) to Peter.

Paul didn't believe the Torah-Law was flawed or invalid.

Worse, Peter is actually denying Jesus and his grace.

What is lawful, legal, and just always needs discernment and perspective.
