Catch what was said in the sermon

Maya Angelou (2) famously stated: "I don't trust people who don't laugh." (2).

People who are self - deceptive could be more concerned with honest signaling .

Being a stand - up pastor means facing the worst audience (2) every week.

I'm guessing it was a loud guffaw (2), bursting out before she can stifle herself (2).

Indeed, this promise was totally preposterous (2).

The more literal expression of "harassed and helpless" would be "oppressed and thrown to the ground."

"Sheep without a shepherd" is a political phrase (2).

Well, what's the harvest and who are the workers ?

Those desperate people of God are the harvest field (2).

They're supposed to teach, preach, heal, and show compassion (2).

It is not a message of conversion; it is a political and spiritual message.
