Clearly Traci had gotten some memo .

Like I said, authority is empowerment.

They appeared like burning torches (2) with fire and lightning moving between them.

The son of man and the presence of the Spirit are in close connection.

That has God in a rather sour mood (2).

Oh, and they're obstinate and stubborn as well as rebellious.

In fact, Ezekiel seems to get a report card (2) in the next chapter or so.

Good, holy Jews (2) don't interact with unclean, Gentile Roman officials.

Not only does the centurion know about the purity issue (2), he also understands grace.

What the centurion realizes— ... —is that Jesus is under authority to take care of affairs in his area, that are being God's creation (2).

He may be a Roman centurion, a Gentile who has no heart or spirit for Torah-Law, much less any desire to be circumcised
