

FAIR-FIELDER

Catch what was said in the sermon?

July 3, 2016

That's a process that has structurally been accomplished.

I decided that since we had been in the house 11 years, I would draw a 10 year line in the sand.

Things are easier to dispose of than emotions.

Letting go and moving forward are characteristics that make Abraham a sterling example of faithfulness.

Considered that way, it's rather absurd, plowing overkill (2) to say the least.

Elisha takes time for something that Jesus would not have allowed.

Luke is saying that Jesus is like Elijah.

Elisha would have understood perfectly.

In Luke, the Seventy refers back to Moses.

Even sandals are excluded for the Seventy.

Freed from attachments, symbolizing a new life in their sparse presentation, they've let go and left all behind as they move forward in faith.