

FAIR-FIELDIER

Catch what was said in the sermon?

August 11, 2019

Who doesn't enjoy going to the supermarket and getting a rotisserie chicken.

Unlike in meal prep (2), it isn't the case that someone else has done all the work (2) for you.

I urge them to be discoverers, initiators who set themselves into challenging journeys.

Further, it cuts us off from the fullness of life that God has provided.

Eli is a rather useless figure (2).

God gave Samuel a vision of the future which did not bode well (3) for Eli and his scoundrel sons.

Samuel is not the subject of great stories like David and Elijah.

At the banquet, those righteous and faithful to the Kingdom are hosted by God.

At that time, the servants come to dine as the Lord is the host of the banquet.

With this saying, Jesus pretty much throws a bucket of water on such matters.

Let us not act as if we were the moron householder who never expected anything different to happen.
