If you want deodorant (and you do), you will have to choose.

One favorite is the sunk cost bias (3).

But transfer it within the context of a relationship and it gets really messy.

God gave them everything they needed to return a worthy, if not a wondrous harvest.

Instead, it is punitive as efforts are made to ensure that it is made a wasteland.

In the succeeding verses, you can hear how justice was missing and righteousness was abandoned.

Division suggests basic disagreement. Disunity indicates splitting apart, while dissension portrays one side opposing the other.

The worldly powers will not yield without violent reaction (2).

There will be harsh accusations, a sense of betrayal by departing from accepted standards.

Jesus provides a vision of the Kingdom.

You cannot do both; you must choose.
