Two minutes later, princess has made three new friends and has forgotten that mommy exists.

They've named these the "helicopter parents" (2) who hover and circle.

Actually it is a type of separation anxiety when we fail to feel connected to others in social settings.

Job simply needs to get an audience with God.

The way it stands now, God has made a serious bunch of mistakes.

Job is very confident he would be held blameless.

It is a time of tense anticipation (2), the kind of time when you want your friends nearby.

In fact, Job is eager to point out God's mistake to God.

However, Jesus knows exactly where God is.

They, too, have abandoned Jesus in his moment of greatest need.

For Jesus, there is no separation anxiety (2).
