Until there is a firm proposal (2) on the table, we can only speculate.

Although every once in a while, there would be a victim who would end up feeling, well, victimized.

They perceive what the mind's eye can hardly fathom.

The promises are extravagant, but they're made by God.

This overturns the curse announced by Amos.

Workers will not be tossed out like an unwanted expense (2).

Each section describes a reversal of the standard order.

Again, the predatory pattern gets transformed.

Dust will be all they get.

Jesus gives them the big brush strokes (3) for starters.

This extreme makeover is about you as faithful followers (2) of the way of Jesus.

We need to be willing to lose our lives, or better to lose what our lives have become.
